Art Publishing.

Few people are aware of the wonderful progress that art has made in this country during the last quarter of a century. It is but a few decades since, that those who desired to beautify and adorn their homes, were obliged to depend almost entirely on foreign artists. But such a state of affairs in this age of progress and improvement could not last long with the great American people. Genius from the East to the West, from the North to the Gulf of Mexico, has been attracted to our shores, for beauty, taste and refinement, and to-day our leading artists are not surpassed by the leading modern masters of Art in Europe.

Great Art publishing establishments have sprung up, and by various processes the finest and most expensive paintings are reproduced in all their elegance and beauty, and at a price within the means of the masses. So that no one need be without the refining influences of beautiful pictures in his home.

Among the progressive leading Art Publishing firms of the country, we take the pleasure in mentioning George Stinson & Co., of Portland, Maine; they were among the first in the business, and were the only ones who understood the colossal proportions their trade has assumed by remembering that this is a great and mighty Nation of nearly fifty million people. We cannot better illustrate the magnitude of their business, than to state the amount of money paid by them for postage stamps during the year 1876; we have the figures direct from the firm, or we should think there was some mistake. They paid for postage stamps during the year 1876, three hundred thousand dollars and four dollars and nine cents ($33,044.92), and in connection with this it should be remembered that only the small orders were sent by mail, the larger going by express and freight. Geo. Stinson & Co's. agents are to be found in every State in the Union and Dominion of Canada, and in every county with scarcely an exception.

Long since, this enterprising firm recognized the vast field for the use of their art in advertising, and they infuse us that without it they could never have extended their business as it is to-day, in three times the number of years. A short time since they paid in a single day twenty-four thousand dollars ($24,000.00) on a contract for newspaper advertising. They evidently long since found the road to success and have neither turned to the right or the left. Three things are necessary for eminent success in business: First, standard and honest goods that the people generally need and desire,—let them be the best, whatever the line of business. Second, let your prices be reasonable—as low as possible. Third, let the people know what you have, and what you can do, by liberal and persistent advertising, and you will find low prices, made known and proved, will bring trade that will give a larger income than can be made in any other way.
